TO SELL SIX PER CENT. BONDS.

Scheme of Bondholders of the Street Railway by Which the Debt is to be Lifted.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. Sept. 11.-Special-The bondholders who bought the property of the Asheville Street Railway Company a few days ago have announced their purpose to sell $100,000 of six per cent. bonds and with the proceeds there-of to cancel about $25,000 of indebtedness now represented by outstanding receivers' certificates, to pay off a few other float-ing debts, and cover the residue into the treasury to perfect the reorganization scheme, now contemplated, but not disclosed, by those in control of the company's affairs. The holders of stock last issued by the old company will be paid off in new stock-70 per cent. in preferred and 30 per cent, in common. It is highly probable that the employees of the old company, who were fed on promises for many months by Col. J. G. Martin, will not receive a cent for their long and faithful services, and many of them are in actual present need of the money that is due them, and would gladly receive one half thereof in full payment of their

FTAUNTON, VA., Sept. 11.-Special. William H. We'ler, a prominent business man of Staunton, suicided this morning at 7:15 o'clock in his store-room in the Y. M. C. A. building, West Reverly street. Mr Weller was a leading dry goods men, a quiet, unobtrusive citizen, deacon in the First Presbyterian church, and enjoyed the respect of the entire community. He was at church yesterlay many He was at church yesterlay morning and night, and took up the collection at the morning services. This morning he left his home early saying he would take the 3:15 Chesapeake and Ohlo train for New York where he would purchase his fall goods. He went about the suicide with deliberation, walked from the suicide with deliberation, walked from his home to a hardware store just opposite his store, selected a Smith & Wesson pistol with great care and got cartridge to suit, crossed over to his store, locked the door, loaded his pistol, and Placing it to his right temple, fired the fatal shot. The ball passed entirely through his head and when found by one of the clerks, he was stretched on the floor in front of a migroe examine for hreath with the pistol was stretched on the floor in front of a mirror gasping for breath with the pistol in his right hand. There is a great mystery surrounding the case. Mr. Weller was one of our best merchants and commanded the best class of trade. His business was in good shape, his credit high and he could command all the money he needed. A community never received a greater shock than from this sad occurrence. Mr. Weller owned real estate rence. Mr. Weller owned real estat and carried a large line of insurance. He leaves a wife and six children.

TAYLOR READ THE BIBLE. The Condemned Murderer dld not Want to be Hanged Twice.

DIG STONE GAP VA. Sept. 11-Spe cial-Dr. Taylor reached Gladeville Friday night from Lynchburg, where he has been confined, and was on Saturday brought into court to receive sentence of death from H. S. K. Morrison, Judge of the Circuit Court. He looked thin and of the Circuit Court. He looked that and pale, but seemed perfectly calm and col-lected. He was told to stand up by the clerk, and the latter proceeded to read to him the customary form, ending with the question if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him. He said, "I have this to say. There is a friend here also who will speak for me; the friend is our Lord Jesus Christ suppose you are willing to hear that he has to say. Are you willing to hear him?"

The Court replied he was willing to hear anything he had to say. The pri-soner then opened his Bible and read without a quvier of voice or muscle from the 37th Psalm as follows:

'Fret not thyself because of evil-doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity for they shall soon be cut down like the grass and wither as the green earth, etc." He read the whole of this Psalm, and dwelt with emphasis on the words "evil-doers" and "ene read many other passages from Bible, and at one time paused and said:
"I want you all to pay particular attention to this verse. I expect to rise from the dead. I do not want you to hang me again after I come back to the world," and he then proceeded: "Now a word or two of my own with you, You look upon me as a low, vile being, but I would not give my place for the place of any one in this house If I had my life to live over I would give more attention to this friend of mine, Jesus Christ. You have known me all your lives. I have in my posses-sion the pearl of Christ, and I ask not of the world any odds. I am not afraid of death. God has something to do it this and you will all be astonished be-fore it is done with. I belong to Christ and he to me, and whosoever contends with me will have him to contend with-now, Judge, you may say what you have judge was about to speak, when W. T. Miller, one of the counsel for the prisoner, said that they desired to inter-pose a plea against the sentence; that they believed the prisoner was insane, and hoped that the court would impanel a jury to inquire into that fact; that it would be inhuman to sentence and hang a crazy man. Counsel for the Commonwealth objected, saying that the time for such a plea had passed, and as the prisoner had been once sentenced the law did not authorize such an inquiry. Without deciding this question the judge determined that he would hear preliminary proof for the purpose, if there was any reason whatever for such a mo The prisoner then introduced a number of witnesses, several of whon testified as to peculiarities of Taylor, such as that he in travelling about would always go a compass course through the woods instead of following the roads and woods instead of following the roads and paths; that he would go about heavily armed as if he feared some unseen danger; that he believed in the communion of the prophet spirits, and believed that they appeared in person to him and held intercourse with him etc.

At the conclusion of this testimony the judge said in substance, that what the witnesses had testified to showing peculiarities and eccentricities, but not what the law deemed insanity. Referring to what the witnesses said about Taylor's belief the suitnesses. in spiritualism the judge said: is insanity, then according to spiritualis c papers there are eleven million insar people in these United States. Insanity is a delusion as to facts, not opinions. Who is to say that Dr. Taylor is wrong as to his opinions and beliefs. We may but who is right and who is wrong incapable of proof. His course, here incapable of proof. His course, here in court, is novel and peculiar, but I observe that he takes a keen interest in all that passes and takes in all that is said and done, and I do not think that there is any evidence that he is insane. My duty is to enforce the law and appoint a day for his execution. If he he insane a day for his execution. PICKETT CAMP.

Why They Do Not Remain a Member of the Grand Camp of Virginia.

Pickett Camp Confederate Veterans met at Central Hal last evening. Col, Hugh R, Smith, Commander of the Grand Camp, was present. He stated his regrets at the action of the Camp in withdrawing from the Grand Camp. Col. R. L. Maury, on behalf of a committee appointed for this object, sub-mitted a report to the effect that the Jamp committee appointed for this object, submitted a report to the effect that the Lamp deemed it unnecessary to continue their membership in the Grand Camp of Virginia, as they now were members of the Grand camp of United Veterans, which to a large extent superseded the independent organization called the Grand Camp of Virginia, After a discussion the matter was rererred

back to the committee.

The following veterans were elected as members: W. J. Burgess, Wm. 1. Chapman, Jeo. T. Parkinson, J. L. Taliaferro, George Mitchell, R. P. Rogers, Wm. R.

The City Committee.

The excitement in connection with the unfortunate action of the City Dem eratic Committee at its last meeting has subsided. and there is a settled conviction that the committee at its meeting to-night will adopt a straight primary for nominating candi-dates to the legislature.

This comes from the knowledge that pub-lic sentiment is so pronounced that no com-mitteeman could afford to vote against it. Those who discuss the matter in a parilamentary sense express the hope that the committee will rescint all former action without debate, and after clearing the field or action adopt the straight primary, which everybody wants, without any reference to what has gone before. The people will stand by the committee if the committee will stand by the people.
